SUGGESTIONS FOR USING THIS MMO EDITION

WE HAVE TRIED to create a product that will provide you an easy way to learn and perform these compositions with a full ensemble in the comfort of your own home. The following MMO features and techniques will help you maximize the effectiveness of the MMO practice and performance system:

Because it involves a fixed accompaniment performance, there is an inherent lack of flexibility in tempo. We have observed generally accepted tempi, and always in the originally intended key, but some may wish to perform at a different tempo, or to slow down or speed up the accompaniment for practice purposes; or to alter the piece to a more comfortable key. You can purchase from MMO specialized CD players & recorders which allow variable speed while maintaining proper pitch, and vice versa. This is an indispensable tool for the serious musician and you may wish to look into purchasing this useful piece of equipment for full enjoyment of all your MMO editions.

We want to provide you with the most useful practice and performance accompaniments possible. If you have any suggestions for improving the MMO system, please feel free to contact us. You can reach us by e-mail at info@musicminusone.com.

FOREWORD

THIS ALBUM is actually the culmination of something that started a long time ago. When I was 13 years old, I was endorsing trumpets for the Leblanc Corporation. At that time, having a love for the tenor sax, I asked Vito Pascucci (the president of the company) if he would send me a Tenor Saxophone to try, which he did. I took one lesson to learn the fingerings and then went off on my own. I drifted off to the alto, which was lighter to hold and higher in pitch—closer to the trumpet—and never had time in my busy career to fulfill what I heard in my head and loved regarding the tenor. With the help of Irv Kratka at MMO, I have now, 50 years later—after an illustrious career that I wouldn't trade for anything—fulfilled that dream, for which I am very thankful. Let me say something about these wonderful tracks that I used for this album from the first and historic MMO recordings of 1952. Being primarily an “ear player,” I didn't enjoy practicing out of a book when I was a kid, and simply wanted to play the music I already heard in my head right away. These early MMO albums allowed me the freedom to do that and contributed greatly to my being able to shape my own sound and style as a jazz artist. Little did I know later in my life I would get the privilege to play, record and become friends with some of the jazz legends on this original MMO record. Let me say something also about the music on this album. I approached this album like I was putting together a set to play at a jazz club on 52nd street in NYC during the golden age of jazz, when you could walk down that street on any given night and hear tenor players like Coleman Hawkins, Lester Young, Stan Getz and many more playing in clubs. I wanted to incorporate all the “nuances” that I love about this style of jazz that I learned from being mentored by the greats from an early age, with sound, feel, expression, dynamics and “relaxed groove” being paramount. This rhythm section provides a canvas to do that without equal. My basic advice to the student is: When you play, try to tell a story, make it swing and create beauty!

I would like to first thank my mom and dad, both wonderful musicians, for providing me the environment to pursue music. My mom would sit me on her knee when I was three years old and play the piano (she played like Count Basie) teaching me hundreds of beautiful standards, like the ones on this album, that are the very fabric of my musical soul. My dad, beside being my first trumpet teacher, would sit at my bedside and put on beautiful melodic operatic music, and Debussy—as he was a conductor—and make up stories to the music to put me asleep instead of reading from a normal children's book. I would like to thank my wife Diana of 32 years for the continual and ongoing support, which has been a constant source of stability both in life and career.

I also would like to thank my friend Les Silver of RS Berkeley Instruments for providing me with the Virtuoso Vintage Tenor and Stan Getz legend mouthpiece I used on this album, both truly a joy to play; along with Robert Polan and Kristen McKeon of Rico Reeds for providing the reeds used on this recording. As any saxophone player will tell you, without a good reed all is for naught.

I haven't recorded by choice since my TV show closed, and I would like to thank my dear friend and jazz great Chick Corea, who is always an inspiration for all the encouragement, along with Beverly Getz for carrying forward the legacy of her dad who was one of the inspirations for this album, and last but not least, my dear friend and master teacher Herk Faranda, who gave me so much support preparing for this project.

I would like to dedicate this album to my beautiful new grandchild, Waverly, who is definitely “Too Marvelous For Words” and came into the world during the recording of this album—certainly a good omen!

Enjoy !

Detailed description: This is a jazz piano score for measures 40 through 49. The music is written in 3/4 time with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat). The score is organized into three systems, each with three staves. The first staff of each system contains the main melodic line, often featuring complex rhythms and triplets. The second staff contains a sustained harmonic line, typically a single note or a simple interval. The third staff contains a more active bass line, also featuring triplets and complex rhythms. Chord symbols are placed above the staves to indicate the harmonic structure. The progression starts with E-flat 9 and D7(b9) in measure 40, moves to B-flat 9 and A7(b9) in measure 41, then to G9, C7, Cm7, and F7 in measure 43. It continues with D9, G7, Gm7, and C7 in measure 45, and finally D7(b9), Gm, Gm7, and C7 in measure 47. The piece concludes with A7(b9), Dm, Dm7, and G7 in measure 49. The notation includes various musical symbols such as eighth notes, sixteenth notes, and rests, as well as dynamic markings like accents.
